

JOIN NOW - CENTER STRATEGIC PROJECTS (CSP) AS YOUNG PROFESSIONAL - CONSULTANT

You have recently completed your studies and want to make a successful career start?

Your Tasks

As a consultant (m/f/d) you will work on strategic projects and support the team analytically, operationally and in project management. You will contribute your professional expertise from your studies and initial practical experience. You distinguish yourself with a clear ability to solve problems.

As a consultant (m/f/d) you will take on the following tasks as part of one of our business practices:

- Preparation of analyses, also beyond your area of expertise
- Processing of subtasks with solution approaches
- Support of the project team based on your skill and competence profile in specialist topics
- Collaboration in program and project management - and thus further development of your method and tool set

Regardless of your career level, you will accompany projects from start to finish - a good return for you! In addition to well-founded management competence, you will also receive a high level of visibility in the group.

Your Profile

You are enthusiastic about telecommunications and the opportunity to help shaping the development of the Telekom Group.

In addition to a bachelor's, master's or diploma degree with honors, you also have the following qualifications:

- Initial experience in project work, e.g. parallel to your studies - ideally with transformation character and an international environment
- Preferably first practical experience in consulting or similar fields of activity
- Entrepreneurial thinking and willingness to shape the telco industry
- Analytical thinking and strong problem-solving skills
- Ability to work in a team, organizational talent and strong customer orientation
- Excellent language skills in German and English
